

WOMAN SUICIDE DIVES UNDER CAR ON BROOKLYN "L"

Wheels Turn Body Aside, but Trucks Inflict Mortal Injuries.

A woman whose hair was streaked with gray and who was dressed in black, as if in mourning, plunged in front of a Myrtle avenue elevated train, Judgewood bound, from the station platform at Franklin avenue, Brooklyn, early to-day. She died four hours afterward at the Cumberland street Hospital, her identity a secret which she kept in death.

The woman was standing near the end of the platform, past which the oncoming train would go at a good rate of speed in slowing for the stop at the station. When the train was about two car lengths away, she stepped swiftly to the edge of the platform, threw her arms above her head and dove to the rails as a swimmer would dive from a boat.

The grinding of the airbrakes, instantly thrown on full force by Motorman Harry Kerr, punctuated the screams of women on the platform who had seen the plunge. There was a rush of men toward the spot where the woman had disappeared and where the first car of the train trembled and bumped to a standstill. The woman was not to be seen.

WHEELS THRUST WOMAN ASIDE, NOT UNDER.

A trainman climbed down to the tracks in front of the car and peered under the trucks, expecting to see the woman's body wedged between the wheels and the track. He saw a dark heap of clothes half way down the length of the first car, lying in the center of the track between the rails. The wheels of the first truck had evidently cast her aside from the further rail, over which she lay, awaiting death, and the trucks had passed over her without cutting her body to pieces.

Policeman Broglio of the East Fifty-first street station, Manhattan, who was on his way home, took charge of the work of recovering the woman's body. He sent a telephone message to the Cumberland street Hospital over the telephone in the ticket booth and another message to a nearby ladder truck of the Fire Department. Somebody ran to Kent and Willoughby avenues and told the Rev. Father William C. Cleary of St. Peter's Church that a woman, who might still be alive on the elevated structure, needed the last rites of the church.

The priest came before the firemen or the ambulance. Father Cleary, with a trainman to assist him past the dangerous third rail, made his way to where the woman lay, crawled under the car and with his head held low to avoid the machinery of the air condenser he prayed.

FIREMEN TAKE WOMAN OUT MORTALLY HURT.

Then came the firemen, who hoisted an extension ladder to the elevated structure. Down this they carried the woman. When Dr. Abbott came in the Cumberland street Hospital ambulance he made a hasty examination of the woman's injuries and said that a fractured skull and internal injuries would bring about her death. She was hurried to the hospital.

The woman had nothing with her which could point to her identity. She seemed to be between forty-five and fifty years old, was about five feet six inches tall, had gray hair and red, regular features. She was dressed in a black skirt and jacket over a white shirtwaist, black stockings and shoes. Traffic on the uptown track was suspended for thirty-five minutes.

The report entered on the Grand avenue police station house blotter was that the unidentified woman "accidentally fell" in front of the train. The motorman said, however, that he had plainly seen her dive foremost to the track with deliberate intent.

FORFEIT SCHOOL PENNANT.

Tyte, Riverhead Point Winner, Is Past Eligible Age.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., June 19.—A sensation was caused to-day by the announcement that Riverhead High School would have to give up the Inter-school League pennant won in the tournament May 25 because the point winner, Harrison Tyte, is more than twenty-one years old, which is the limit of eligibility.

In the tournament Riverhead High won with the aid of the 4's points which the disqualified athlete made. Patchogue High was second and Southampton High third. Southampton students discovered evidence that Tyte's twenty-first birthday was April 3. The pennant will probably be competed for again.

TAFI PARDONS ANOTHER.

Franklin P. May, Convicted of Land Frauds, Second to Be Freed.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—President Taft to-day pardoned Franklin P. May, on the ground that government prosecutors had pursued improper methods in securing his conviction of land frauds at Portland, Ore., in 1907. This is the second pardon granted by the President in the famous Mitchell-Merriman land cases. Willard S. Danner was pardoned a few days ago.

SEVEN-PAGE JOKE BOOK FREE.

Quite as fascinating as the funny pictures, jokes and other witticisms that will go to make the new copy of "Fun" the joke book to be given free with next Sunday's "World." "Fun" than ever will be the pages of jokes, cut-outs, riddles and puzzles to be featured in this great volume of wit and humor. The latter, alone, will entertain you for hours. Order Sunday World in advance.

SUFFRAGETTES MAKE SAVAGE ATTACK ON BRITISH CHANCELLOR

Lloyd-George Mobbed on London Street Is Saved by His Detective Bodyguard.

LONDON, June 19.—A savage attack on David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, was made today by a band of suffragettes outside of Cannon Hall, in the Westminster district. Shouting threats, the women rushed on the Chancellor, knocked off his hat and were mauling him when a number of detectives, who were following Mr. Lloyd-George as a bodyguard, seized the suffragettes and held them while the Chancellor jumped into a taxicab and drove off.

The Chancellor escaped injury, although he was roughly handled. His hat and clothing showed the effect of the assault. No arrests were made.

Sunday School Teacher Sentenced. D. Gordon Elliot, formerly a Sunday school teacher in St. James's Methodist Church at One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street and Madison avenue, and who was arrested on June 7, charged with the larceny of $200 worth of goods from Lord & Taylor, was found guilty before Justice McInery in Special Sessions to-day. He was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. Elliot had been employed as a shipping clerk in the firm he robbed.
